U. S. MARINES DEAD

ATTEMPT TO LAND AMERICAN FORCE AT PUERTO ARISTA FATAL.

OTHERS SAVED BY MEXICANS

Peace Agents Bar Rebels and Mediation May End Unless Mediators Rescind Their Action Regarding Carranza Representation.

Mexico City, June 2.—War Minister Blanquet reports an attempt on Sunday to land American marines from the cruiser Albany at Puerto Arista, state of Oaxaca.

Owing to a heavy sea the boats were swamped and several marines drowned. Others were rescued by Mexicans and sent in custody to Salina Cruz, where they were released and delivered to the commander of the Albany.

It is understood Mexico has cabled the mediators at Niagara Falls a proposal which it is thought should be acceptable, and which, if accepted, would settle the entire question at issue.

Washington, June 2.—Constitutionalist authorities promptly quelled an incident anti-American demonstration by intoxicated peons at Tampico, says a report made by Rear Admiral Badger to the navy department.

A flat-footed refusal to grant the United States government's insistent request for Carranza representation in the Mexican peace conference at Niagara Falls has been given to the American representatives there by the South American mediators.

Unless the mediators rescind their refusal it is believed in Washington the mediation conference will fall of success.

President Wilson and Secretary Bryan received reports of the situation from Justice Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann, the American delegates at Niagara Falls, but refused to indicate the contents.

At the last session of the mediators and the American delegates, it is learned from a high official source, the mediators declared with vigor that delay in the proceedings would not be tolerated. The Americans, however, brought about a postponement of a final decision on the Carranza request until today.

Messrs. Lamar and Lehmann insisted that the mediators comply with the request of Carranza for representation in the remainder of the proceedings. The mediator's flat refusal was returned on the ground that the only effect would be to delay the proceedings and give the Constitutionalist more time in which to operate and through the possible overthrow of President Huerta, make the mediation farcical.

At the same time the United States was accused of bad faith in insisting on Carranza representation after allowing the proceedings to develop to the point of virtual agreement on a new provisional government for Mexico without such representation.

The American delegates' rejoinder was that the internal problem of Mexico should not be solved without the Constitutionalist being represented, now that it was known definitely that General Carranza desired to be represented.

Word reached Washington that the fines assessed at Vera Cruz against the German steamer Ypiranga under Captain Sticker's interpretation of the Mexican navigation laws amounted to about nine hundred thousand pesos. It was reported the Ypiranga's cargo of munitions of war for Huerta, billed to Vera Cruz, but landed at Puerto Mexico, consisted of not less than 15,000,000 rounds of ammunition, 250 machine guns and other war material.

Niagara Falls, June 2.—Mexican peace negotiations are in a state of suspended animation. The action of Carranza in making what is interpreted as an appeal for Constitutionalist representation in the conference has produced an awkward situation, which will be discussed by the mediators and American delegates.

New York, May 30.—Edward J. Boughton, judge-advocate of the military district of Colorado, testifying before the federal commission on industrial relations on Thursday, said that "statements to the effect that women and children were shot in Ludlow are not true."

"There was no such thing as the Ludlow massacre," he continued. "Nobody was killed or burned except a small child, who was shot, it appeared, not by troops of the state, but as a result of his own carelessness."

Indianapolis, Ind., June 2.—Rene Thomas, driving a French car against a field of the premier pilots and fastest of five nations' cars, created a new record on Saturday at the Indianapolis speedway to win the international championship. His elapsed time was 6 hours 3 minutes 45 and 99-100 seconds. His average per hour was 82.47 miles. The old record, held by Joe Dawson since 1912, was 78.72 miles an hour.

Arthur Duray, in the French Baby Peugeot, was second, 6 minutes 45 seconds behind Thomas. Albert Guyot, head of the Delage team, was a close third. Jules Goux, the Peugeot favorite and last year's winner, was fourth. Honors of America went to Barney Oldfield of the Stutz team, who finished fifth. Oldfield's average was 78.15 miles an hour.

The race was the bloodiest run since 1911. Joe Dawson lies in a critical condition in the Methodist hospital with a broken collar bone, internal injuries, twisted back and bruise blackened body—a wreck of the man who won the race in 1912 and entered the lists a popular favorite. His injury was the result of "turning turtle" while going 100 miles an hour. Physicians fear he may not recover.

In a room near him is Ray Gilhooly. His face is gashed and torn almost beyond recognition. Gilhooly's lottia blew a rear tire, hit the retaining wall and turned over.

In other rooms are the mechanics of both drivers, one Vere Barnes, who rode beside Dawson, with face cut and body bruised, the other, Lino Bonasi, with contusions on his forehead, lower lip torn, right shoulder bruised and left knee cap wrenched.

These were the most seriously injured. Others hurt were Jean Chasagne, driver of the Sunbeam, and his mechanic, Tom Mitchell, both of whom were out about the face. Mitchell also has internal injuries.

SEEK GIRL IN GRAVE

WINTERS CHILD MAY BE BURIED ON FARM.

Missing Daughter Reported Found at Findlay, O., But Mound Will Be Explored.

Newcastle, Ind., June 2.—Receipt of a telegram here Saturday from Findlay, O., aroused hope that Catherine Winters, who has been missing since March 20, 1913, had been found and there a shadow of uncertainty over the proceedings against her father and stepmother, who were arrested Saturday in connection with her disappearance.

The telegram was from Judge H. O. Dorsey, who told Prosecuting Attorney Myers that a girl answering Catherine's description was living with a family named Pratt in that city. An investigation of the report will be made today.

Despite these rumors authorities are proceeding in their quest for the body of the missing girl, the daughter of Dr. W. A. Winters. A search for the body will be started in a lonely swamp on a farm four miles west of this city.

A year ago the owner of the farm found a shovel lying beside a mound of newly turned earth. He took the shovel to his home and forgot the incident.

The scene was recalled vividly to his mind when he read the story of the search of the home of Doctor Winters for trace of the missing girl. He had been told that many people no longer believed that the girl had been kidnapped, but feared that she had been murdered.

The farmer reported finding the shovel to Robert H. Abel, a private detective, who has been conducting a search for the body of the girl, and plans were arranged by Mr. Abel and Mayor Watkins to search in the swamp. The shovel bore the mark of the Big Four railroad, for which W. R. Cooper, who has been arrested on a charge of conspiracy to commit a felony in connection with Catherine's disappearance, formerly worked as a telegraph operator.

Doctor Winters and his wife, who were released on bonds after they had been charged with conspiring to commit a felony, were taken into custody again Monday, according to a statement of William B. Myers, the prosecuting attorney for Henry county.

WILSON REFUSES AID

BUSINESS MEN ASK PRESIDENT TO STOP AT TRADE BILL.

Refuses Request but Tells Delegation He is in Sympathy With Their Purposes.

Washington, May 30.—President Wilson was requested on Thursday to limit his trust program at the present session of congress to the passage of the trade commission bill by a delegation from the Illinois Manufacturers' association, the Ohio Manufacturers' association and the National Vehicle and Implement Association of Manufacturers.

President Wilson refused the request of his visitors, but said he was in sympathy with their purposes. The delegation presented a petition stating that thousands of business men were in favor of the establishment of a trade commission with powers to make a survey of the trust problems in the United States. After such survey was made they believed it would be proper for the administration to proceed with further trust legislation. They stated there was a great slump in business at the present time and much unemployment due to the uncertainty of business men over pending legislation.

The delegation stated that their organizations represent over 83,000 factories, 1,800,000 employes and $782,000,000 of capital.

MILITANT FIRES UPON GUARD

Suffragette Seized as Famous English Race is Run at Epsom Downs.

Epsom, England, May 29.—Ada Rice, supposed to be a militant suffragette, was arrested on the Epsom Downs on Wednesday after she had discharged a pistol loaded with blank cartridges at a policeman. The powder burned through the policeman's trousers and blistered one of his legs.

The race was run unimpeded. It was won by Darbar II, property of H. B. Duray, an American.

The time of the race was 2:38, a fraction of a second quicker than the average.

Mr. Duray had great faith in his horse, which was backed for large amounts by the American contingent. The jubilation among the big crowd of transatlantic visitors was distinctly noticeable as the winner was led into the paddock.

King George and Queen Mary traveled in the midst of a numerous body-guard of huge fellows in uniform or in plain clothes.

Alliance.—To have 2,300 volts of electricity pass through his body and still live is the experience of Walter Hopkins, the 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hopkins. He, with an older brother, playing in the street after a heavy windstorm had blown some poles partly over and the wire was low enough for the child to reach, took hold of it. The index finger of his left hand was burned entirely off and his feet burned. He was restored to consciousness and will recover.

Pierce.—P. W. Moore, head miller of the new flouring mill at this place, was swept over the dam across the north fork of the Elkhorn, meeting all most instant death. Heavy rains had swollen the stream to an unusual height and Mr. Moore was on the foot-bridge over the dam cleaning away a mass of accumulated rubbish and debris when he lost his balance and pitched into the river. The swift current swept him over the dam to the whirlpool below, where he was sucked under by the water and was unable to reach the river bank.

Real Egg Laying.

Mr. Howland is sure this is a county record and possibly for the state. His total flock of forty-two hens produced 702 eggs during April, but this record was badly shattered in May, while twelve of the hens were off the job setting and increasing the flock by fifty-five chicks.

NEW BAKING POWDER

THE children must be taught to breathe fresh air or to read and write. Swimming is not a negligible part of their training, and they take to water like little ducks.

The three suits shown in the illustration are suited to girls of all sizes. That on the nearly grown miss at the center might be made for a youthful but grown-up woman. But these models are for children and young girls.

The tiny miss at the left has on a simple and sensible garment, which is plaited. The skirt is bifurcated at the middle, forming bloomers that are drawn into the legs about the knee with elastic cord. The garment is cut long enough so that the bloomers fall over the knees.

There is a white collar and four-hand tie, and the short sleeves are finished with bands of white. The shoulders are very long, and the sleeves reach a little below the elbow.

Mohair is about the best material for these suits, because it sheds the water readily and is very durable. No matter how wet it becomes it does not stick to the limbs and it dries off very quickly.

The little half-grown girl of eight has on a two-piece suit trimmed with bands of braid. There is an all-ones underbodice and bloomers and an outer frock with broad sailor collar and very short sleeves. For lanky little, fast-growing bodies, inclined to spindling thinness, this is a handsome model.

The older sister is more smartly dressed in a suit of silk with plain sailor waist and shaped skirt trimmed with silk braid. There is a broad sailor collar of the silk trimmed with silk buttons and simulated buttons of silk cord. A pair of shoes close-fitting pants are worn with this suit, and the skirt is slightly weighted.

The very clever caps hardly need description. Those of the little girls are made of rubberized cloth, and that of the older girl of waterproofed silk. This last is a wonderfully clever model made of an oblong strip of goods folded into shape and machine stitched. It shades the eyes and manages to be becoming, which is greatly to the credit of the designer.

Modish Gown for Sweet Sixteen

REFINEMENT marks this quiet and pretty gown that has been designed for the young miss from sixteen to twenty. It is of chiffon taffeta in ciel blue, made up with net in the same color, decorated with white embroidery.

It is a party gown, and the underskirt, although hanging in to the figure, is full enough for dancing.

The underskirt is of chiffon or of the thinnest of silks or silk muslin. These materials allow of considerable fullness without being bulky. Accorded plaited silk netting underpinnings achieve the same favorable points for dancing gowns, but when lace or net flounces are to be gathered on to the petticoat, the fullness is made by gathering the silk.

Two ounces of the embroidered net are set on to the petticoat of silk muslin. There is an overskirt of chiffon taffeta in blue, fitted in to the figure by gatherings at the waist line. It is caught up in plaits at the back and at the middle of the front. There is a plain, wide, looped-up sash of the taffeta at the back, and the lower part of the drapery is cut away at the left, and hemmed into a sash end tassel through a silk-covered buckle which serves a double purpose, it makes a pretty finish and weights the prermit or draped tunic.

There is an underpinnings of silk muslin with overdrapes of the taffeta and edges of the embroidered net. The round neck is finished with a rill of soft fine lace across the front, topped with the smallest of rhinestone settings. This, note at back is fastened to the main skirt of wide black velvet ribbon.
